

Only a Fraction of Refugees Make It to Europe

The United Nations estimates that over 800,000 Syrian refugees have sought asylum in Europe between April 2011 and November 2015. Standing very tightly together, they would fit on approximately 12 football fields.

Only a small fraction of refugees fleeing their homes make it to Europe. The UN has registered over 4.5 million Syrian refugees in Turkey, Lebanon, Jordan, Iraq, Egypt and North Africa. Most of them live in refugee camps close to the Syrian border. They would fit on 65 football fields.
